

INSTRUMENT PROFICIENCY CHECK (IPC) REFRESHER

ARE YOU READY FOR YOUR NEXT INSTRUMENT PROFICIENCY CHECK?

#TheSkyIsCalling

PASS YOUR IPC WITH FLYING COLOURS

To fly as Pilot In Command (PIC) under Instrument Flight Rules (IFR) or in anything other than Visual Flight Rules (VFR) conditions, you must be instrument current. To maintain IFR currency in single or multi-engine aeroplanes, pilots are required to pass an Instrument Proficiency Check (IPC) every 12 months.

Completing an IPC Refresher course facilitated by experienced IFR Flight Instructors is a great way to ensure that your knowledge and skills are at the level required to pass your Instrument Proficiency Check.

PACKAGES TO SUIT YOUR IPC FLIGHT TRAINING NEEDS

Flight training relevant to IPC preparation includes cover holding, approaches, partial panel, manoeuvres, unusual attitudes, and instrument approaches. You should also ensure that you have current charts as well as the POH for the aircraft to be used, and that you are familiar with its contents and the equipment in the aircraft.

We have a range of flight packages and pay as you fly options for both single and multi-engine aircraft, that can also include the use of our state-of-the-art flight simulators.

OUR GRADUATE: ALEX HARTKOPF

“IPC training not only enables you to fly IFR for another year, it also expands your IFR knowledge and piloting skills considerably. At LTF you’ll find IFR Instructors with thousands of hours IFR experience between them, ensuring high quality and individually tailored flight instruction, a range of aircraft with both glass and analogue instrument cockpits, and the highly realistic IFR-capable AL42 Synthetic Flight Training Device modelled on the Diamond DA42.” - Alex Hartkopf (Grade 1 IFR Flight Instructor at LTF Melbourne)
